

THE ANTHROPOLOGISTS

CODE OF CONDUCT

Living Document: 2.14.21

The Anthropologists is an ensemble-driven theatre company based in NYC and creating both live and digital content. We are dedicated to the collaborative creation of investigative theatre that inspires action. We foster a working environment that is driven by the following values:

- Inclusivity
- Equity
- Anti-Racism
- Transparency
- Respect
- Collaboration
- Care for one another and our community

We are committed to creating safe, equitable and inclusive workspaces and processes that are free of harassment and racial discrimination.

We do not tolerate discrimination based on race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexual identity, religion or citizenship status.

This is a living and changing code which grows with the needs of our BIPOC community members.

We expect that all participants will conduct themselves in a way that is in alignment with the values of The Anthropologists. We ask that everyone working with and for The Anthropologists to consider the impact that their actions, comments or behavior may have on others and to take responsibility for their own behavior. This policy is extended to any off-site work-related events.

The code of conduct is meant to help us all be responsible and respectful members of our immediate community and the larger theatre community in NYC and beyond.

This code of conduct was informed by Nicole Brewer's Anti-Racist Theatre workshop and The Public Theater's code of conduct.
